hand greenede fell among the linglish vesset's cartridges and blew up twenty eight officers and men aft of the main "Struck?" I have not yet begun to fight!"
A coar of mangled laughter and cheere went up from the Richard's grimy warriors. Here was a joke whose point even the dullest among them could see a laughter their shap was already amashed beyond repair and in momentary peril of sinking undler their feet; though her bettery's best guns were burst and useless and her fighting force horsbiy depensions of yet this awantiby, dapper little man could still jest with the enemy, Surety matters with the Richard must be more propitious than they seemed. And the onew went on with the death arip fight, braced and encouraged by that one phrase of boastful defiance.

or maid," observed the Philosopher.
"Not at all," returned the Peasimist.
"You ought to know that the maid would have the better manners of the two. You see, she has to be polite."
"Well, that hasn't anything bo do with the shoe question," put in the Philosopher. "I say all women are when they get turned loose in a shoe shop." a shoe shop."

"Yes." reflected the Pessimist, "I went into a store with my sister-in law the other day and I was so ashamed of myself for being with her I couldn't look any of the sales people in the eys.

"She tried on every pair of shoes in the store and ended up by not buying any. I was so enraged I bought a pair of shoes for my wife that didn't fit and she didn't like just because I couldn't stand for that awful nerve of ID you ever see a woman trying to buy a pair of shoes?"

asked the Amateur Philosopher.

"Well rather," commented the Pessimist, "They say you can always tell a real tady by the shoes she wears, but I'ill defy you to make this distinction by the shoes she tries on.

"A woman in a shoe shop is the worst tyrant in the world and the real lady is right at the head of the game.

"If there is one place on earth that the genuine female aristocrat has an opportunity to make herself downright undaylike it's in one of these shoe emportunity to make herself downright undaylike it's in one of these shoe emportunity to make herself downright undaylike it's in one of these shoe emportunity to make herself downright undaylike it's in one of these shoe emportunity to make herself downright undestigned to make it and the pridest people on earth are your so-calised hontons."

"By far as rudeness is concerned," reflected the Philosopher, "I think the rudest people on earth are your so-calised hontons."

"Well rather," commented the Pessimist.

"I think a lot of women's nasty tempers are caused by this tight-shoe dioxy. Some one ought to make it a custom for women to have nothing whatever to say about the size shoes they wear. Get them into the hands of competent elerks, which correct measurements, who will give them big enough shoes without any interference and this will be a happier world."

NFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize the of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-sever per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen?

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that may of these infantile deaths are cocasioned by the use of narcotic preparation Drops, tinotures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints continuous or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities deadly poisons. In any quantity, they supperly, retard circulation and is to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, by you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fietcher.
